From the landing of the Pigrims on Pigmouth Reck in 1820, the speaker most ably presented the story of the march and progress of America. No item was left unfoucaed which could serve in the painting of the beautiful pleture of their outstanding and domianting ideals. They lived that we might have life, and wrought that we might build.

The thought of America, what it is, and what it must be, also presented in the address, did not fail of finding the sympathetic answer desired by speaker.
